Q6. Please provide any comments on the answers above.

1	Looking from the outside, it seems like Heartland is under a lot of turmoil. There is a lot of staff changes, and we are starting to wonder about the management of IHLS. I am saddened that the administration of IHLS would even consider bringing an unbalanced budget to its board or membership. I hope that IHLS can get its act together.	Feb 27, 2014 1:20 PM
2	The ListServe can be very overwhelming at times. I can have 26 emails on a damaged book or scotch tape. Its hard to keep straight whats important and what I can filter out.	Feb 27, 2014 8:56 AM
3	I wish when we searched for patrons in Polaris that we only saw our patrons. It is a BIG head-ache that we can see all patrons from everywhere. Since we are logging in twice - we should not have to see all patrons from IHLS.	Feb 27, 2014 7:35 AM
4	I would like to see Heartland respect school libraries. As question 2 on this survey demonstrates, PUBLIC libraries are the focus, and school libraries are a bother. The check box for other does not accept a response. I am neither a director, staff, or trustee. I am a Teacher-librarian managing three libraries, teaching 26 classes a week, all while being marginalized by the library system.	Feb 26, 2014 6:57 PM
5	Allow schools to only request books. Being under-staffed makes it hard enough to just request what my students need. I would have to live here to field requests from other libraries.	Feb 26, 2014 4:43 PM
6	I feel that school libraries could and should further strengthen the Heartland membership. However, this will never happen unless the unique needs of school libraries are recognized, addressed, and welcomed. I fully understand that school libraries are not the driving force of the system, nor are they the main financial supporters. That said, schools are where most children are developing their understanding of libraries and what they do. IL school libraries, if they even exist in a school at all, are in a sad state of affairs. If this generation of children is not taught what libraries are worth to them, why they should support them, and why they have a right to them, what kind of patronage will public libraries see in the future? 7	for #5 to allow people to talk to one another with an eye towards problem solving issues that affect schools, discussing trends, etc.	Feb 26, 2014 3:01 PM
8	so far there are too many committees--i don't know who does what. I also have no one to call with very basic questions.	Feb 26, 2014 1:31 PM
9	Our situation is unique but I believe all libraries in the system could benefit from consulting availability, even if its one or two people who consult by phone. I feel more on my own than I ever have.	Feb 26, 2014 1:06 PM
